THE HIGH SCHOOL HAVE ATHLETIC MEET

McCarthy Wins on Points -- Good Marks Made by the School Boys.

The outdoor athletic meet of the Portsmouth high school, which was twice postponed, was held on Wednesday afternoon at the play grounds and there were fairly good entries for all of the events and the boys showed up well, considering the fact that the weather has been so poorly that they have not had much outdoor work.

The meet was won by James McCarthy who finished with twenty points to the good, with White second with 11 points.

McCarthy won two first, two second and two thirds and White won one first, two seconds and three thirds. Hodgkins was third with nine having three seconds to his credit. Hewitt was fourth with eight won in one first and one seconds. Crossman, 7 with a first and two thirds. Conlon got a first and Sanderson and Hayford a third.

The events:
Stunning broad jump. Won by Hewitt, 14 ft. 7 in.; J. McCarthy, second, 14 ft.; White, third, 14 ft. 100 yard dash. Won by J. McCarthy, 12 sec.; Hodgkins, second, and Crossman, third.

12 pound shot. Won by White, 22 ft. 4 in.; McCarthy, second, 28 ft. 3 in., and Crossman, 27 ft. 1 in.

440 yard dash. Won by McCarthy, one minute; Hewitt, second, and Hayford, third.

Running high jump. McCarthy and Hodgkins, tie for first place, at 4 ft. 8 in.; Sanderson, third, 4 ft. 7 in.

220 yard hurdle. Won by Crossman, first, 32 sec.; Hodgkins, second and McCarthy, third.

One mile run. Won by Chester Conlon, 5 min.

The officers of the meet were: C. A. Howard, director; Russell Leavitt, clerk of course; Oren Shaw and Edward Ellsworth, times; Frank Bunker, Russell Badger, James Dow, Ralph Brackett and Moses Donnelly, judges.

GIRL OPERATORS DEMANDS FOR MORE WAGES REFUSED

Telephone Company Says Concessions Cannot Be Made

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company has refused the demands of the girl operators at Boston for a change of working hours and any increase in wages.

The concessions demanded cannot be met by the company at the present time, the officials say, but a number of new concessions not asked for have been made by the company, such as increased pay, longer vacation, etc.

The operators meet tonight to make a reply to the company.

WILL TRY TO SAVE RICHESON FROM THE CHAIR

Boston, April 24—An insanity commission to examine C. V. T. Richeson, under sentence of death for the murder of Avis Linnell, will be asked of Gov. Pass, according to a statement made tonight by W. A. Morse, counsel for Richeson.

"If the governor decides to appoint such a commission," said Mr. Morse tonight, "we are confident that our chance of saving the life of our client are greatly increased. Even if he does not adopt this means we feel sure that the deposition regarding Richeson's abnormality secured from many Virginia people will cause him to refer the case to the council."

BOSTON WAITRESS SUES PERLEY ESTATE FOR $50,000

Mr. Perley Was a Personal Friend of Hon. Frank Jones and Well Known in This City.

The estate of Renton M. Perley of Newburyport is sued for $50,000 by Miss Mabel H. Weld, a waitress in a Boston restaurant, who claims that during the past twenty years she gave Perley (thousands of dollars to invest and he failed to return anything to her for the same.

Perley was for years one of the leading agents of the Frank Jones Brewing Co., and handled nearly all the business for the Portsmouth firm in Eastern Massachusetts. He was highly esteemed by Mr. Jones, who at his death bequeathed him $500.

Behind the suit there is said to rest an interesting story of the meeting of Miss Weld and Perley, at her place of employment, and how for twenty years she gave him her earnings, hoping that in his wisdom he could invest them with better results than she alone could attain.

About twenty years ago, while on a visit to Boston it is said he met Miss Weld. The same year, it is alleged, Miss Weld turned over to Perley $11,000 for him to invest for her, giving him the money in two installments.

For twenty years, it is claimed she continued to give Perley money to invest for her, and in 1909, the year that it is alleged they were to have been married, Perley died, without ever having given her a cent.

In 1911 an equity suit was entered in the Suffolk county court, the ad damnum being placed at $50,000.

CAPTAIN OF THE MT. TEMPLE SAW NO SIGN OF WRECK

Denies the Statement He Did Not Heed Distress Signals--His Depo- sition Will Be Taken.

St. John, N. B., April 24—The statement that the steamer Mt. Temple was within five miles of the Titanic when she sank and without heeding signals of distress steamed away is indignantly denied by Capt. Moore, who was in command of the vessel. His statement tonight is as follows:

"We received a wireless message after midnight Sunday from the Titanic stating she had struck an iceberg and to come at once. We turned about at 12:30 o'clock and steamed back to the position given us, arriving there at 4:30 o'clock. We encountered so much ice, however, that we stopped until daylight.

"We cruised about, but could not see any sign of the ship. About 6 a. m., on the other side of an immense field of ice, straddled thickly with bergs, we saw the Carpathia. "We also saw the California, which was to the northward of us, steaming west, then coming down to the south ward and she met us. She did not communicate anything.

"At 8:46 o'clock, ship's time, we received a general message that the Carpathia had picked up twenty boats. We asked if they wanted any assistance but we got no reply. Shortly afterward we received another general message stating, 'nothing more can be done; no need to stand by.' We then left the scene and proceeded on our way."

Capt. Moore said that as soon as he turned about he called all hands on deck and immediately put them at work getting boats ready to be lowered, allotting ropes and accommodation ladders in readiness for service. He placed men in crews and had one sailor hoisted to the very top of the foremast, instructing him to keep a sharp lookout.

When he turned his ship and rushed back among the immense fields of ice he was doing so at a great risk, he said for he had on board 1451 passengers besides his crew. Nevertheless, he avers he promptly answered the call for help.

"Leaving humanity out of the question, do you not think that I would have liked to have been the lucky one to pick up these people?" the captain concluded.

AUTOMOBILE DAMAGE CASE BEING HEARD

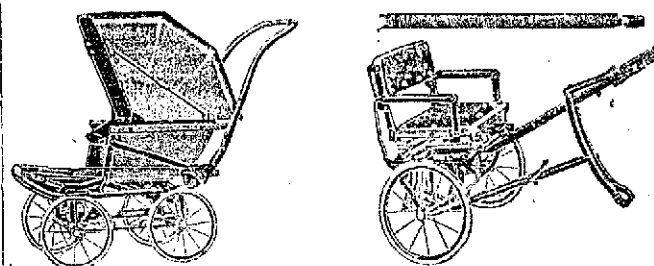

A case in superior court was begun Wednesday morning at 11 a. m. E. Weaver against Hugh J. Robertson, both of Portsmouth. This is a case of a counter suit for damages in an automobile collision at Portsmouth, October 13, 1911.

Mr. Weaver alleges that Mr. Robertson was at fault, and Mr. Robertson seeks to turn the negligence on to the plaintiff. The attorneys engaged are Ernest L. Gopfert and John L. Mitchell, both of this city, for the plaintiff, Mr. Weaver and Kelley and Hatch of this city for the defendant. The jury was empaneled with Charles A. Rosser of Windham as foreman.

The jury came to this city on Wednesday afternoon and viewed the scene of the accident. Owing to the lack of car service between this city and Exeter the entire afternoon was consumed. The trial was resumed this morning.

The case of Mrs. Susie A. Pike of Exeter against the school board of

OBTAINED MONEY FALSELY

Sheriff Ceylon Spinnery of Rockingham County left this morning for Buffalo, N. Y., to get Alfred A. Plack, who had been arrested for the local officer. Plack is charged with having obtained $75 from George W. Downing of this city under false pretenses. Sheriff Spinnery was armed with the necessary extradition papers for Plack's return.

Clarence Tilley is passing the day in Manchester on business.

Friday, April 26th, will be known as Parents' Day at the Haven school. The regular school work will be done during the morning session.

A "school exhibit" which is open to the public, will be held Friday afternoon, when specimens of each pupil's work will be shown.

OBITUARY.

Frederick G. Philbrick.

Harrison J. Philbrick of Kittery has received the sad intelligence of the death of his greatly esteemed friend and kinsman Frederick G. Philbrick of Ayer, Mass. The Ayres News has the following obituary notice of the deceased:

After an illness of several weeks,

Frederick G. Philbrick passed away last Friday at his home on Columbia street, death being caused by heart disease. Mr. Philbrick was an accountant and had been connected with the freight department of the Boston and Maine railroad since coming here in June 1885. He was born in Lowell, Aug. 18, 1854.

He leaves one brother, Charles H. Philbrick of Lowell, four nieces, Mrs. Clarence M. Childs of Lowell, Mrs. Fred C. Austin of Somerville, and Mrs. Marcha L. Park and Mrs. Henry Samuels of Boston and three nephews, A. R. Philbrick of New York, Charles S. Philbrick of Lowell and Harry W. Philbrick of Cleveland, O.

In passing of Frederick Gardner Philbrick the town has lost a valuable citizen and his church a consecrated worker. For nearly 27 years he has gone in and out among us weaving his bright spirit through many lives. He loved all children as though they were his own, for he had a child's heart. He remembered their birthdays with little tokens, and delighted to send them Easter cards, and other gifts. The little ones will miss their dear playmate.

But still to know the man's fine tastes and lofty visions one had to see him intimately in his own room. There, surrounded with his books and the picture of many friends he lived and dreamed of 'things that are lovely, and of good report.' His tastes were delicate, and artistic. He loved the far reaches of the hills and the sunset tints caught through his many windows. The smoke and gloom of his office made but the dark background to this bright and sensitive nature. Doomed to a life of monotonous figuring he kept his poet soul unstained. For he found the realization of all his visions and aspiration in his church.

Early in life he came to the Episcopal church. At the founding of St. Andrew's church he was one of the leaders, and continued faithful unto death. Every pastor knew his devoted friendship, and constant assistance. No work in the church too menial for his interest. Always ready to decorate her on the great festivals, always present when only two or three were gathered together, he was deeply interested in her councils, for he served in every capacity on her vestry. He was a member of each minister's family, making their interests his own; attentive and thoughtful of visitors who came to supply the pulpit; courteous, considerate, consecrated; "Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

At his funeral at St. Andrew's church Monday E. H. Higley of Boston and the vested choir, with Messrs. Colburn and Parsons of

"HUB" PERDUE

Boston, April 25.—Pitcher "Hub" Perdue is now the idol of the National league fans here. The sturdy Jabber of the Braves won his first three games twirled in masterly style and Manager Johnny Kling is of the opinion that "Hub" will be the sensation of the National league this season. "He is the most improved pitcher in the parent organization," says the Boston's leader. In the recent game against the Phillies Perdue pitched great ball. He fanned nine of the Quakers' heavy hitters.

Shirley, rendered very impressive service was conducted by the rector, Rev. Endicott Peabody assisted by Rev. T. I. Fisher of Leominster, Rev. Sherrard Billings of Groton and Rev. A. L. Bumpus of Ayer. Robert H. Irvin was master of ceremonies. Messrs. Charles Sherwin, Clarence H. Kinney, Henry F. Sanderson and George H. Hill served as pallbearers. The interment was in the old English burying ground in Lowell.

Insanity Not Inherited.

"Most persons think that insanity may be directly inherited," says Homer Folks in the State Charities' Bulletin. "This belief is undoubtedly wrong. One may inherit a greater or less tendency toward insanity. Mental instability may be inherited, just as weak constitutions may be inherited. Those who have reason to believe that some of their ancestors suffered from mental troubles need not be unduly alarmed, for this fact does not make it certain that they will suffer likewise. These tendencies toward insanity may lie dormant during the whole lives of the individuals. But such persons should take the proper precautions to prevent the development of this tendency. As a weak constitution may be built up by healthy habits, so may mental instability be made stable by good mental and physical habits. The individual whose family has had mental trouble may often escape the disease by proper surroundings, healthful and temperate activities, and proper mental and physical habits. The most important fact in heredity is that the vast majority of ancestors of every individual were normal. Heredity tends, therefore, rather more strongly toward health than disease.

Joys of Litigation.

Another case illustrative of the old saying that some men take real delight in "going to law" is before the court of an interior county of Pennsylvania. And as so often happens in such litigations, it began in a quarrel about a cow.

The cow wandered into a field of growing wheat and ate her fill. The owner of the field sued the owner of the cow for damages which probably would have been fully covered by a verdict of $10. But the owner of the cow, with a reputation as a "fighter" to maintain, brought a cross suit, and that started a war which has raged ever since. It began more than five years ago, and in that time there have been half a dozen different suits over the affair, including one for false arrest and one for slander. The litigants have already paid upward of $1,000 and as much more for counsel fees, and as both parties are men of means the controversy is scheduled for a long run. The cow whose stolen lunch started it all is dead.

Begin at Home.

Everybody wants to reform some body else, but the citizen's first duty to the state is to reform himself.

Are You Fat?

That is, you can not be fat and be in style. The day when a fat woman was tolerated is passed. Nowadays all women must be in proportion or be ridiculous. This does not mean you should become skinny, however. You should not get below the hard flesh line. All you ought to lose is the bulky fat. That done you will find yourself to be a well-formed and therefore handsome woman.

Now, how can this be done? By exercising and dieting? Yes, and no. These two means will bring some results, but not easily nor soon. One is very hard work; the other is torture. Besides, neither can be depended on to cause a uniform reduction. They may take off a fleshy shoulder, for example, and leave the double chin untouched. What you need, you see, is something pleasant to take that without injury to your health will take the fat off uniformly and quickly, say at the rate of a pound a day or so, until it is all gone where you want it to go.

For this purpose nothing is less expensive safer or simpler than Marmola Prescription Tablets. Inexpensive because one large case, costing 75 cents only, will produce results: safe because they cause no wrinkles or stomach trouble, but rather improve the health and complexion, if anything; and simple, because they do all the work without asking thought or effort on the part of the taker. In short, they are the ANSWER. If you are fat and wish to be thinner. If your druggist is of the better kind he will have them. If not, write the licensees, The Marmola Company, 978 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

EXETER LETTER

Many Interesting Items from the Academy Town.

The will of Mary Howard Sullivan who died Monday, was yesterday proved in probate court, and it directs that her home on Court street be sold, and that $300 of the proceeds go to the Exeter cemetery for the care of her lot.

Of the remainder of the estate $300 goes to two brothers, and another brother $200, but as all of these are deceased the property goes to the heirs. To her niece, Edith F. Childs of Boston, is also bequeathed the sum of $1000, which is on deposit in a Haverhill, Mass., bank. Four nieces and four nephews are also given smaller sums, and her personal effects, such as silverware, goes to the widows of her deceased brothers.

The New Hampshire board of trade at the invitation of the Exeter board of trade will hold its quarterly meeting here, May 7, at the probate court room. There will be two sessions one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

The funeral service of Mrs. Nellie Mahar was held Wednesday morning at St. Michael's church, conducted by the Rev. Francis J. Hapney. Mrs. Mahar was the wife of William Mahar, and died at the Cottage hospital Monday. The bearers were Daniel Kelleher, David Cahill, Cornelius Mahar, Edward Murphy and John Nagle, all relatives.

The funeral service of John G. Higgins, who died Sunday, was held Wednesday afternoon at the home on Center street, conducted by the Revs. Herbert F. Quimby, pastor of the Methodist church, and Raymond H. Huse of Dover, superintendent of the Methodist Dover district and a former pastor of the local church. Mr. Higgins was a veteran member of the church, and had been a resident here for twenty-five years. He came from Welfleet, Mass., and of late years was engaged in the wholesale ice cream business. The bearers were two each from the Methodist church, Sagamore lodge, I. O. O. F., and the Star in the Sea Lodge, A. F. and A. M.

PROCLAMATION FOR ARBOR DAY

The fact that our forests are one of the greatest of our natural resources is enough to give it first rank for public consideration among the essentials of national supremacy. It is not, however, solely because of the wealth to be derived from cutting the tree that we should give them such attention, but that they are a necessity in preserving our soil, our climate, and our rivers. Inattention to our forests is inattention to the soil from which we derive our sustenance.

The State has established an effective system of forest fire protection. It has taken steps to preserve for all time the timber in Crawford Notch. We expect the Federal government to establish national reservations. We should next learn to use the forests that are standing to the best advantage.

Let us now provide for future generations by unanimously protecting such natural resources from exhaustion. It is not for the State to try and insure such an important element of our welfare without the united effort and sympathy of the public at large.

In order to inspire a sense of responsibility toward preserving and extending our forests on the part of the people, it has become the custom in many states and in most civilized governments to set aside a certain day in the year to be devoted by it citizens to the study and planting of trees.

I therefore proclaim Friday, May 3, as Arbor Day, to be devoted by the people of New Hampshire, including the members of the Grange and the children of the schools, to planting trees of all kinds and the study of forestry, to the caring and raising of fruit and shade trees, that it may develop in them not only a sense of responsibility in preserving this source of wealth and well-being for future generations, but also that we may help to perpetuate a custom which so clearly advances the best interests of New Hampshire.

Given at the Council Chamber in Concord, the sixteenth day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-sixth.

TEAM ROUNDING INTO SHAPE.

Couch Walter Woods has the following to say about the Dartmouth team:

"The team, considering the fact that it had no outdoor practice before the first game, did extremely well. In the Columbia game the men had a slight attack of stage fright in the first part of the contest, but later steadied down and played good ball. In the West Point game, the team made its best showing both at the bat and in the field.

The work of the pitchers was excellent. Morey and Hallett made the best showing, both being in mid-season form. Layth gave promise of developing into a first-class performer, and Ekstrom, although hit rather freely, did fairly good work. With the approach of warm weather, and the outdoor work, I expect to see a great improvement in the team, especially with the stick. I see no reason why Dartmouth should not have a team capable of contending with the best college teams of the East."

The police arrested four stragglers

Cable Steamship Mackay-Bennett and Her Crew, Which Picked Up Many Bodies of Titanic Victims.

The cable steamship Mackay-Bennett picked up a number of bodies of victims near the scene of the sinking of the Titanic. Those of the bodies which it was believed could be identified were brought to shore. The others, without marks of identification, were buried at sea. Many wore life preservers and apparently died after terrible sufferings in the cold sea. The arrow indicates Captain F. H. Lardner of the Mackay-Bennett.

THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1912.

The principal streets of our city are covered with waste paper blown here and there by the wind. The citizens sigh for those good old days when John White and Joe Rowbotham carried the bag and kept the streets free from waste paper.

The fact that Peterborough and Cornish, the respective home towns of Gov. Robert Perkins Bass and Winston Churchill, both gave Taft delegates a handsome majority would indicate that there were other persons in those towns who did not take kindly to the ideas of these two advocates of the Roosevelt cause.

If our citizens want Portsmouth to grow and prosper they should patronize home industries. When upwards of $1000 is expended weekly in this city for bread made by Massachusetts concerns, it does not look a though the proper support was being accorded our local bakers who spend their money in Portsmouth.

The Concord Patriot says: It is understood that application has been made for a hall in Concord, for use April 30, for a "rump" convention, of the report of the committee on delegates' credentials at the Republican State convention is not satisfactory to the Roosevelt league members.

Judging from the returning from all parts of the state Brother John and his followers will have no occasion to hire a hall for a "rump" convention.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS

There is still a shade of doubt as to whether precedent can be so confronted as to let a democratic convention go by without bringing W. J. Bryan forward as at least a near-candidate.

Penn's Woods are full of political surprises. It is rather curious, for instance, that the sedate Quaker sentiment should have taken such a fancy to the colonel's sporting vocabulary.

Some of those primaries appeared disposed to lump their local and their national issues.

The spirit of insurgency in the Mississippi river valley that has been talked so much about has set the rivers on a rampage.

While we are firmly convinced that the people should rule it would be a much safer gamble to place your money on the people's wives.

Reducing the subscription to the Congressional Record will not popularize it, unless they add a woman's page and run a voting contest.

Indications that news was withheld for the purpose of securing policies on ships already lost is likely to bring on the question of whether insurance shall not be played as a gentleman's game.

The restoration of Secretary Knox, safe and sound, to his home in the capital is an assurance that the Central American jingo is not deadly as he was represented.

Rotund hero, Chanticleer insisted that the sun could not rise without him, thereby justifying his persistent assertions to the leadership of the lazarard.

Photographers were barred from the Carpathia dock. There are griefs which even the camera must respect.

One touch of baseball makes the whole world kin.

Still, it is safer to cross the ocean than to drive behind Old Dobbin.

The Titanic passengers would rather have had fever velvet upholstered chairs and more life-boats seats.

Many people who go to Europe once in a lifetime are mad if they lose half a day by the boat slowing down through a fog.

The Titanic furnished every protection against sea sickness, but they don't suffer much from that at the bottom of the sea.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

The Pull of Large Vessels.

The loss of the Titanic brings freshly to mind a mishap to her sister ship the Olympic on leaving Southampton to begin one of her early voyages. For some reason not yet fully determined the cruiser Hawke of the British navy, which was passing out in the same direction was drawn into collision with the giant liner and both vessels were badly damaged. The Olympic so seriously that she was compelled to return to port and later to go into drydock for extensive repairs. It is believed that the collision was due to a certain mysterious suction influence exerted by the immense hull of the liner, which overcome the headway of the warship and drew her irresistibly out of course. It is easy to conceive that a ship displacing 60,000 tons of water creates a great disturbance beneath the surface when in motion. To go back to a familiar phenomenon of boyhood experience is to find an illustration of this force in miniature. The little chip or shingle boats launched upon the pond by shore mariners will almost invariably drift together and cling in hopeless embrace. The smaller of these craft will move steadily toward the larger ones. There is something like an attractive force to bring them into contact. Possibly the giant liner pulls everything floating within a certain radius toward it. In the case of the Titanic and the iceberg it may have been the former or the latter that exerted the drawing power. Nothing, of course, is known as to the size of the mass into which the vessel rammed. Possibly it was many times her bulk and weight, and it may be that when she came within range she became utterly unwieldy and headed toward the berg in such a manner that her sides were ripped open and her compartments filled beyond the possibility of salvage. The mistake to the two great vessels suggest that possibly the shipbuilders have gone a little too far in magnifying the unit of flotation.—Washington Star

Ensign of United States Navy is Groom at Home of Bride's Parents. Ensign William Dwight Chandler, U. S. N., and Miss Amy Richardson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Richardson, were married in Washington Wednesday evening, in the Connecticut-avenue residence of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wallace Radcliffe pastor of the New York avenue Presbyterian church.

The bride was attended by a matron of honor, Mrs. Clark P. Chandler, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom and by a maid of honor, Miss Lucy Hoke Smith, daughter of Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia. Lieut. Chandler of the 11th United States Cavalry was his brother's best man. The guests included relatives of

OVER TAXED.

Hundreds of Portsmouth Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are over taxed; have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains—Backache, weariness, headache. Early symptoms of kidney ill. Urinary troubles, Bright's disease follow.

A Portsmouth citizen tells here a reliable remedy for kidney ill. Leslie Whitehouse, 7 Thornton St. Portsmouth, N. H. says: "About a year ago I began to have trouble from my back and kidneys. Often a sharp catch darted through my body and became so bad that I could hardly move. There was also a dull, throbbing ache across my loins and the kidney secretions were highly colored and contained sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Philbrick's Pharmacy, corrected my trouble and I have had no return attack."

TAFT WILL HAVE 600 DELEGATES IN CONVENTION

A Revision of Returns Strengthens the Taft Victory.

Concord, N. H., April 24.—A revision of the figures in yesterday's Republican primary election for delegates to the State and district conventions, on April 30, was attempted today by both the Taft and Roosevelt campaign managers, but in each political camp they only served to emphasize the victory of the President.

Many little towns far to the north and in other obscure regions were still to be heard from at 10 a. m., but up to that time the figures stood in the Roosevelt headquarters, Taft, 409; Roosevelt, 224; with 178 delegates to be reported.

The Taft lead in the first district was more pronounced than in the second, but the Roosevelt leaders admitted today that they did not expect to have a New Hampshire delegate to the Chicago convention.

Beside electing 811 delegates to the State convention 381 to the First District and 427 to the Second District conventions, the Republican voters expressed yesterday their Presidential preferences, and in this vote the tabulation at the Roosevelt headquarters showed a Taft lead of about 3000 in a total vote of about 39,000.

Gov. Bass said today that he was not at all discouraged at the result, for he felt that the campaign had consolidated the movement in New Hampshire and that, although defeated, those in sympathy with the Roosevelt movement would continue to fight shoulder to shoulder for cleaner politics.

The Taft supporters were jubilant over the victory and said that it would have a direct effect upon the Massachusetts primaries next week.

the bridegroom from New Hampshire, among them being his grandfather, Ex-Senator William E. Chandler; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Chandler; Miss Katherine Chandler, all of Concord, and Mrs. Thomas J. Walker of Lisbon. The bridal couple will enjoy a month's honeymoon, after which Mr. Chandler will return to his ship, the Utah.

Mr. Chandler is the second son of William Dwight Chandler, editor and publisher of the Concord Monitor. He graduated from the naval academy in the class of 1911.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES.

The Portsmouth Equal Suffrage League are now installed in their permanent headquarters at No. 29 Congress street, up one flight. The League feels that it is a privilege to have a large front room on the city's main street in its largest square.

It is easily accessible to members, friends and visitors and the League hopes that the public will feel perfectly free to use their headquarters as a railway waiting room. There will be members of the League always there afterwards to give any kind of instructions which may be required.

On Friday afternoon, April 26, 1912, there will be an important business meeting at 3 o'clock, and all members and expectant members are earnestly requested to be present. This will be the first meeting, since December over which the League's honored President, Miss Martha S. Kimball, has been able to preside.

A large attendance is hoped for to aid for the active Spring Campaign which is to be conducted by this League, not only in Portsmouth, but in Rockingham and Strafford Counties as well.

The Portsmouth Equal Suffrage League have an immense field of opportunity and the State Campaign Committee feel every confidence that Portsmouth influence will be widely felt.

$1000 REWARD.

Information of Joseph Joseph of Lackawanna is Wanted.

The above sum will be paid for information leading to the recovery of Joseph Joseph, son of George Joseph, of Lackawanna, N. Y., who disappeared from his home on Thursday, October 12, 1911. Since that time no word has been heard from him and the father now appeals to the newspapers for aid. His description is as follows:

Joseph Joseph, Syrian, 7 years old, about 3 1/2 feet tall, weighs between 40 and 50 pounds, stocky build, has large black eyes, black hair and dark complexion. Teeth bad, two upper, and one lower missing. At the time of his disappearance, he wore corduroy pantaloons, blue flannel waist and brown hat. He speaks both English and Syrian and has a habit of singing and whistling.

A band of gypsies were in the city the day of his disappearance and it is possible that he may have been kidnapped by them.

Don't miss hearing Dr. Baketel's lecture on his trip through Europe, Palestine and Egypt, and all will be assured of a delightful evening entertainment, should you be able to attend.

WASHINGTON

Latest Political Gossip of the National Capitol

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Little besides the inquiry into the causes of the Titanic disaster is being discussed here. Temporarily the political pot has ceased to boil, the bickerings and contentions of the rival presidential candidates are forgotten, and public attention is focused on the Senate investigation committee's effort to fix the responsibility for the greatest sea tragedy that mars the pages of modern history.

That this investigation will be thorough, notwithstanding any attempt at a "whitewash" after the inflated public mind cools off, goes without saying. In the first place it is in the hands of men who are determined to know the truth and who have no interest in protecting negligent steamship officials, no matter who they may be. Second the force of public opinion calls for the correction of conditions that make it possible for the lives of 1600 persons to be blotted out because of an inadequacy of proper safeguards.

While the investigation has not proceeded far enough to determine definitely whether or not the Titanic disaster was due to criminal negligence, it is clear in the minds of many members of Congress that the laws for the protection of travelers at sea are not being rigidly enforced. If the present laws are inadequate, then more effective ones should be enacted, these members declare. And, aside from fixing the responsibility for the loss of the Titanic, the Senate committee will determine this as a part of its investigation.

From evidence that has come to the committee, it is plain that years steamship companies, both foreign and American, have not given due thought to the protection of passengers in case of accident. Few of the large passenger carrying ships it is asserted, leave port equipped with a sufficient number of lifeboats and life belts to insure the safety of every passenger and member of the crew. It has come to light that the Titanic went to sea with only enough of these boats to provide for one-third of the passengers aboard; and that its owners have not been the only offenders in this way is a charge that will be fully investigated. The Titanic owners have answered this with the statement that they assumed this giant steamship to be practically unsinkable, that it was the last word in steamship construction and that no power of the elements could reduce it to helplessness. But the utility of this plea has convinced Congress that it is high time for corrective measures that if steamship officials willfully disregard precautions for safety of human life, swift and heavy punishment should be meted out.

If the campaign publicity bill which has just passed the House becomes a law, the fact that it is effective and will put a damper on campaign corruption will not be wholly due to the wisdom and foresight of its framers. Representatives Henry of Texas, and Rucker of Missouri, admitting that these members are sincere in their desire to check the extravagance of money-spending in the present campaign, nevertheless examination of the Congressional Record discloses that the bill as prepared by them, had it passed the House in that form, would have been almost wholly innocuous. It required an amendment to "put teeth into it," as one of Mr. Henry's colleagues observed.

The publicity bill was drafted after Mr. Henry, who is W. J. Bryan's mouthpiece in Congress, had received his cue from the Nebraskan. Mr. Rucker, who aided in its preparation, is Champ Clark's floor representative. But when the bill was brought up by Messrs. Henry and Rucker, other Democrats at once saw that it offered a loophole to candidates desiring to conceal campaign expenditures until after nominating conventions or primaries because it did not compel the publication of any statement until 30 days after these conventions or primaries were called. As the bill finally passed it carried an amendment by Representative Balmirick, of Ohio, requiring the publication of campaign expenses both 15 days before conventions and primaries and 30 after. Mr. Henry was at first disinclined to accept this amendment, but under pressure of Democrats who wanted to pass a real publicity measure he agreed. The Ohio delegation, especially those who favor Gov. Harmon's candidacy insisted on this amendment.

"The meek, retiring statesman is seldom the successful one," remarked Speaker Clark to an admiring friend who was sounding him on his hopes in the presidential race. Then Mr. Clark added: "All things come to him who waits, but the restaurant patron who refuses to wait always gets served first."

John Hay Hammond has started a movement to raise a fund for the erection of a memorial to Major A. Butt, military aide to President Taft, who lost his life on the Titanic. He has interested the president, Secretary of War Stimson, Maj. Gen. Wood and Admiral Dewey. Mr. Hammond is not certain whether it should be by private subscription or in the nature of a public memorial, the funds to come from Congress.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS.

Editor Herald: The result of the recent caucus held in this city certainly shows the work of the Portsmouth Herald in the fight for President Taft and the New Hampshire representatives at Washington and I take this method of thanking you for the part the paper played since Theodore Roosevelt threw his hat in the ring. No failly in the state fought harder than the Herald, especially in pointing out to the hundreds of navy yard workmen the right and wrong of the whole thing. The result shows the effective work which your paper has waged against a bunch of calamity howlers. I have watched the interest your paper has taken in the navy yard, not alone on this occasion but for years past, when politics were not involved and when the workmen needed a hand. I trust that the good work will be carried on regardless of whatever party is in power and that your efforts will be appreciated in the future as well as in the past.

A GOOD SEASON FOR THE HATCHING OF LOBSTERS

A Good Number Planted Along the Coast

The season for gathering eggs by the United States Fishery is nearly at an end. The men engaged in the work report that it has not been a very successful season on cod, haddock and flounders, but lobster hatching has been the best in years. Captain George W. Greenleaf of the Gamnet, states that the lobsters came out better this winter than they have for years. Already the work of distribution has begun and good numbers have been planted along the coast.

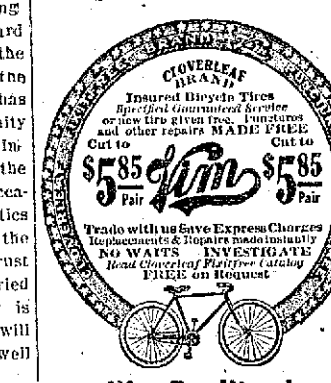

Last Thursday 4125 fry were planted between Pemaquid point and Rockland. Saturday 1500 were left between the Cape Elizabeth Highship and Wood island and on Monday 1500 more were left between Cape Porpoise and Whaleback light. Sixteen hundred fry were planted between Rockland and Petit Menan.

The state fisheries steamer Shell-drake is now engaged in leaving 2500 fry between Petit Menan and Eastport. Up to the present time about 300,000 flounder eggs have been collected while the number of cod and haddock eggs has amounted to but 30,000,000. These amounts are far under what would ordinarily have been secured.

Mrs. A. E. Danforth of Newton Centre, Mass. arrived today to pass the summer with Miss Emma Gerry of North Kittery.

A business meeting of the Epworth League was held last evening with Mrs. John Woodward.

The fence along the property of Mrs. Hattie Wentworth of Wentworth street has been torn down, and greatly changes the appearance of that part of the street.

Try the new fuel called Briquettes. Cheaper than coal, for sale by George D. Boulter.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Remick Grant will be held from the home of her brother, Oliver P. Remick, Friday afternoon at 2:30. All friends invited.

Boy Scouts meet in the following order: Second division at 9 a. m., and First division at 10 a. m. on Saturday. Let it be well understood that no boy is required to purchase a suit of any other material for the Boy Scouts unless he so desires. What we want is the boy's attendance upon the meetings or his own personal good, and the other things are only secondary. A. J. Hayer, Scoutmaster.

"The Problem of the Boy" will be the subject of the lecture given at the M. E. church on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Official Board will meet at the close of the service. All members are earnestly requested to be present as there is some important business to be considered.

G. L. Trefethen, plumber, and heating, water pipe and fittings, in cets, valves, etc., conducts pipe and fittings, Kittery, Maine.

Word has reached here of the death of Mrs. Saunders, mother of John Grant of Government street. Mrs. Saunders has been staying in a New Hampshire village the past few months.

On Thursday evening next the Ladies' Social Circle of the Second Christian church are to have an old fashioned supper, sale and entertainment in the vestry of the church. A good time is assured all who attend.

On Wednesday evening, May 1, there will be a May social for the young folks of the village at the Second Methodist vestry. Very elaborate preparations are being made for the affair and a small admission will be charged.

Miss Emma Gerry of North Kittery visited relatives here on Wednesday.

The seniors of Traip Academy leave tomorrow afternoon for Washington.

Miss Mary C. Brooks has returned from a trip to Bermuda. She was accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Jenkins of Portsmouth.

George E. Williams of Echo street has been restricted to the house the past few days with a severe cold.

The special Odd Fellow service next Sunday will be at 2 o'clock. The public invited.

OBSERVED BIRTHDAY.

Miss Frances deRochemont Entertain Her Young Friends.

In honor to her sixth birthday anniversary, Miss Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. deRochemont of Deer street entertained several of her school and playmates at her home, from 2:30 until 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

From the moment that they arrived the little ones were amused by playing games and participating in various childish frolics. Several prize games were played and prizes awarded to those who succeeded in making the best showing.

At 4:30 they seated at the large table to enjoy a feast of delicious dainties that had been prepared for them by Mrs. deRochemont.

The time passed altogether too quickly and almost before the little tots realized that the day was drawing to a close the time for their departure had arrived. As they left for their respective homes their beaming faces told more plainly than words that the occasion had been most heartily enjoyed. Among those present were Miss Amelia Garland, Miss Winnie Pinkham, Master Paul, McMillen, Miss Gertrude Weeks, Miss Eloise Beolt, Miss Myra Grigg, Miss Frances Entwistle, Miss Ruth Bishop, Miss Mildred Bishop, Master Eugene Hersey, Miss Geraldine Ward, Master Winfield Chick, Miss Hazel Jewett and Master Arthur Tibbets.

OBSEQUIES

Levi J. Girard.

The remains of Levi J. Girard who died in Gardner, April 20th, aged 52 years, arrived in this city Wednesday, and interment took place in Harmony Grove cemetery under the direction of Undertaker H. W. Nickerson.

The funeral of John Hennessey was held from the church of the Immaculate Conception at 8 o'clock this morning, when a number of friends and relatives attended. Requiem mass was offered by Rev. Father E. J. Waisa, P. R., and the musical portion of the service was rendered by the senior choir. The interment was in Calvary cemetery by Undertaker W. P. Miskell. The pallbearers were John T. Lambert, C. J. Dunn, Michael Hurley, Charles Conliff.

"THE CONFESSION."

"The Confession" by James Hackett Reid, which has enjoyed a successful run at the Bijou theatre, Broadway, New York city, will be seen at the Portsmouth theatre this Thursday, evening for the benefit of Portsmouth Council, K. of C., dares to tell the truth and in its telling narrates a dramatic story of power, strength and literary merit. "The Confession" uses in its theme a vital subject. A priest's duty to his church, versus his duty to his state, in fact, it is a story that runs the gamut of every human emotion, and yet in Mr. Reid's manuscript, there is not a line that would offend the most sensitive. No more absorbing tragedy has ever been conceived, no greater stage picture and lesson ever presented. This epoch of Christianity provides material for a play of unusual interest, unlike anything else ever produced. "The Confession" will live for its theme and purpose is too great to die; truth cannot die, right must conquer might. Mr. Reid is firm in his belief that a much abused public will welcome a play with real life interest, not depending upon the low, the sensational, or the vulgar for its success, but rather upon truth, which, since time began, has always been stronger than fiction. The management of the play, firm in Mr. Reid's belief, have furnished this play "The Confession" with a cast of exceptional ability which have appeared in almost every important production for years. The management deserves the congratulation of the theatre going public for their efforts in obtaining such remarkable people. For this important theatrical offering, a scenic production befitting in detail and correctness has been built for "The Confession" and its distinguished cast.

ZINK-HILTON.

The marriage of Arthur H. Zink of Beverly, Mass., and Miss Laura B. Hilton of Charlestown, Mass., took place at Kittery on Wednesday afternoon the ceremony being performed by Rev. Arnaldo Natino, pastor of the Second Christian church. The groom gave his occupation as a machinist and his age 23 years. The bride said she was 18 years old.

RAILROAD NOTES

Edward E. Sullivan, general yard master for the Boston and Maine railroad at Dover died suddenly of heart trouble on Wednesday. He was one of the oldest employees at that station and has filled the place of telegraph operator and ticket agent previous to assuming the duties of yard master.

The Maine Central railroad Co. has petitioned the board of railroad commissioners for approval of two proposed changes of location in the towns of New Gloucester and Gray for the purpose of eliminating heavy grades. One change proposed lies wholly in the town of New Gloucester, is about two miles in length, beginning of the New Gloucester station and crossing the New Gloucester Cobbs bridge and Brown roads. The other proposed diversion lies in the two towns and is about four miles in length. The only highway crossed is the Penney road.

Rep. Martin of South Dakota has introduced a bill in the House which would deprive the express companies of their exclusive rights to transport freight on fast trains. The bill would compel all railroad companies to carry express cars on passenger trains and accept for transportation all parcels and packages. The rates would be subject to the review of the interstate commerce commission. The bill would enjoin the railroads from discriminating in favor of any express company. It was referred to the interstate commerce commission.

ENGLAND CONCERNED OVER SENATE INQUIRY

Titanic Loss Hearing Has No Precedence--Worried Over Treatment of Witnesses.

London, April 24.—Renewed interest in the Senate's inquiry into the loss of the Titanic and in the status of the Senatorial Court was evinced by several members of the House of Commons today and many questions were asked of Francis Dyke Acland, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Acland replied on behalf of the Foreign Office: "I am not aware of the precise grounds on which the United States Senate inquiry is being held. I understand the object is to determine the responsibility for the wreck. As far as I am aware, there has never been previously a foreign inquiry into the loss of a British vessel on the high seas."

Roland Munro-Ferguson, a Scottish member, expressed fears lest witnesses necessary to the British inquiry into the Titanic disaster might be detained, but Mr. Acland dissented, saying:

"I feel sure that we can trust to the usual good sense of the American Senate and the American people not to desire to detain persons whose attendance might be required at a court of inquiry in this country."

Arthur Lee, member for Hampshire, suggested that instructions should be sent to the British Ambassador at Washington to protect British subjects summoned by the Senate committee, "who apparently have no one to defend their rights at present."

Mr. Acland did not doubt that if protection were desired by the British witnesses instructions would be sent, "but we hope that the case may not arise."

Alexander MacCallum Scott, another Scottish member, asked if the Senate committee "is not a political committee conducted by people who are not experts in the matter," to which Mr. Acland replied: "I do not think it is our place to investigate that. It appears that the committee of the Senate has power to summon witnesses and to administer oaths and we have not thought that we were entitled to go further than that in the matter."

Mr. MacCallum Scott then said: "Are you aware that those called before the Senate committee are not receiving fair and honorable treatment? Will you take steps to secure fair and honorable treatment for British subjects?"

Mr. Acland replied: "No such complaint has been received by us. Surely, in this matter we must trust as I think we are right in doing, to the good sense of the American people, and we do not desire to interfere without absolute necessity."

The catechism closed with the suggestion from William O'Brien that many American citizens had lost their lives and that the interest in the disaster was as great in the United States as in Great Britain.

Sidney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, announced that the number of women and children who had perished in the Titanic catastrophe was 156.

Herbert L. Samuel, the postmaster general, stated that he had called for reports of all wireless dispatches that had been sent by ships and wireless stations in connection with the Titanic disaster.

A GREAT INFLUENCE.

President Taft has carried New Hampshire. This is a remarkable and a significant victory. It is seldom that a party eight delegates, in a convention containing more than one hundred times that number loom so large over the horizon as these. All sort of reasons contributed to their importance. New Hampshire is the home of Gov. Bass, one of the original progressives of the East. He was one of "Gov. Stubbs's trained troops," as William Allen White, a Roosevelt adherent has playfully described the band of governors.

New Hampshire's geographical position also made its vote important. It is bounded by Maine which has gone for Roosevelt; Vermont, that was nearly evenly divided, and Massachusetts, soon to speak. The Granite state's influence on our vote will be undeniably great. In these circumstances partisans of the ex-President could be counted on to make a very strenuous battle and to expend large sums of money, and they have done both but without success.

Mr. Taft's victory indicates an arrest of the Roosevelt tide, which has for some days been running strong. This result foreshadows the success of Taft's delegates in Massachusetts next week. It will help to hold in check the threatened desertion of the southern delegates. It will thus have a splendid tonic effect on the entire situation.

While the battle remains extremely close, depending for its outcome on conditions which are metaphysical quite as much as numerical, the general outlook has been much brightened by the action of the Granite state. The President's friends should take heart and go forward.—Boston Herald.

TAFT DELEGATES.

Providence, R. I., April 24.—With harmony and celerity the Rhode Island Republicans today selected ten delegates to the Chicago National Convention and instructed them to support the candidacy of President Taft until released. Theodore Roosevelt's attitude was denounced amid applause, and the presiding officer at the State convention challenged anyone to vote against the instructing resolutions.

OBITUARY.

Frank T. Clarkson of Kittery Point was in Saco on Wednesday in attendance on the democratic county committee meeting.

LAST OF THE ELKS SOCIALS

The last of the very successful socials at the Elks' Home was held on Wednesday evening. There were about a hundred present and whist and dancing was in order.

The whist favors were awarded to Mrs. Charles A. Badger, Mrs. Harry N. Harding, Mrs. C. St. Clair and Mr. C. W. Berry.

Musical for dancing was furnished by Hoyt and Rowe.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED.

Washington, April 24.—Representative Korbly of Indiana has introduced a resolution to ascertain what chance a United States Navy officer or seaman has for his life on the high sea in case of a disaster similar to that of the Titanic. The resolution would have the Secretary of the Navy inform the house concerning the life-saving equipment of vessels of the navy, whether lifeboats and rafts in sufficient number for all of the crew are carried and if each man is supplied with a life belt.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer has called for a report as to the lifeboat equipment of naval vessels. The reports showed that the older battleships and cruisers have boats and rafts to accommodate about fifty per cent of the total complement and that the dreadnaughts have sufficient boats and rafts to take off sixty-five per cent.

Secretary Meyer also had a report from the Navigation Bureau showing that lifeboat and "man overboard" drills are performed daily on every ship in the naval service while at sea and once a week while at anchor; that once a month a complete test in manning the boats and taking off the officers and the crew is made. In this test only a sufficient number of officers and men is left aboard to navigate the vessel and keep up the steam during the half-hour consumed by the test.

Secretary Meyer said he was satisfied with these reports. It is not essential that boats of the capacity of more than sixty-five per cent of the complement be carried, he held, since warships carry no passengers and every officer and man is taught to swim as a part of his training. Fore boats would only interfere with the military efficiency of the warships. Mr. Meyer pointed out that ships nearly always cruise in company and in case of accident to the one the others would be close to assist.

It was also pointed out that when ships clear for action all boats and rafts are cast overboard, and accordingly, if a ship sinks in action it is a case of every man for himself.

Within the last few days the navy and all other Government departments operating ships have been visited by inventors presenting safety devices for the lowering of lifeboats and certain release of the boats from the ropes upon reaching the water.

Secretary of War Stimson ordered today an inquiry to ascertain the number of lifeboats on all army transports. The Quartermaster's Department was instructed to equip all vessels promptly with boats where they are found lacking and to direct regular drills in manning them and in taking off passengers. These drills shall be performed before each sailing and at least once a week while at sea.

Unofficial estimates indicate that the present lifeboat equipment of the transports is only about three-fourths of the full carrying capacity. The other fourth will be added.

Shaving Among the Ancients.

Shaving was practiced among the Egyptians early in the eighteenth century before Christ. The first mention of it in the Scriptures is in Genesis, where Joseph made a hasty toilet when called to go before the king and "shaved himself." Nearly a century later shaving the head is mentioned. Ezekiel (B. C. 595) alludes to the "barber's razor."

The Kinds of Lies.

A Chicago university professor, after exhaustive research, has discovered there are ten different kinds of lies. Under his classification there are the fantasy or fairy tale lie, the vainglorious or boasting lie, the defensive lie, the heroic lie, the white or permissible lie, the society lie, the business lie, the art lie, and the adulterative lie.

Her Responsibilities.

It is a woman's privilege to change her mind, is a time-old saying. All privileges carry great responsibilities if she has power to change her mind, she has absolute control over her thoughts. And if they be impure, or mean, or shallow, or false, or ungenerous, she alone is to blame.

RED TAPE RULES IN LONDON

Man Who Fell into the Thames Refused Admittance to Police Stations and Hospital.

The complaints made occasionally in New York of the refusal of hospitals to admit emergency patients, some of them in desperate plight, are brought to mind by the experience of a London man who fell into the Thames the other day.

In New York the explanation has been that the hospitals refusing to treat patients were overcrowded and it was impossible to accommodate another applicant for admission. In the London case red tape appears to have been responsible for the denial of succor to the man who took an involuntary bath in the icy waters of the river.

Nothing in the testimony on the subject of the shivering unfortunate's treatment indicated that there was not plenty of room for him in which to get warm and dry his clothes.

The story came out in a police court, when a young laborer was charged with breaking a plate glass window in the Salvation army shelter in Whitechapel road. The accused testified that after he pulled himself out of the river he had applied at two police stations for permission to have his clothes dried, and was referred to the casual ward of a hospital, but an official there would not admit him because he had no order.

It was then early on a December morning. According to the testimony of a night watchman at the Salvation army shelter, the prisoner had asked to be admitted there about four o'clock a. m. to dry his clothes.

When the watchman told him to call again at five o'clock, as it was against the rules to admit anyone before that hour, the prisoner threw his cap at the window and broke the glass.

The magistrate was interested in the prisoner's story that he had been turned away from police station and a hospital, and declined to dispose of the case until he ascertained whether it was true.

Another tale of red tape methods in a London hospital is told by an American. He suffered an injury to his eye and was in great pain.

"Can you afford to pay for the treatment?" asked the surgeon at the hospital.

"Oh, yes," responded the American. "Then we can do nothing for you," said the surgeon. "We treat only those who cannot afford to pay."—N. Y. Sun.

Ill-Paid Hero.

Mr. French Strother, writing in the World's Work about C. P. Rodgers' transatlantic flight, says that financially the trip was a disappointment. He received five dollars a mile for his flight from New York to Port Worth, and from Port Worth to Pasadena, four dollars a mile and all the purses he could arrange for on the side. He thus received about twenty thousand dollars from his backers and about three or four thousand dollars prize money. But his machine cost five thousand dollars and repairs cost about seventeen thousand dollars more, so his net return was small.

But he unconsciously summed up the significance of his flight at Pasadena, after he had heard the last congratulations and had laid off the American flag they had thrown across his shoulders, when he placed his hands on his mother's shoulder and said:

"Never mind about the money. It don't amount to much that way—but I did it, didn't I?"

John Smith Everywhere.

The good old name of John Smith does not suggest in English any great degree of aristocracy, but transferred to other languages it seems to climb the ladder, so to speak.

Thus, in Latin it is Johannes Smithus, the Italian smooths it off, into Giovanni Smithi, the Spaniards render it Juan Smithus, the Dutchman adopts it as Hans Schmidt, the French flatten it out into Jean Smet and the Russian says Jonoff Smittowski.

When John Smith gets into the tea trade in Canton he becomes Jovan Shimmitt; if he clambers about Mount Hecla the Icelanders refer to him as Jahnne Smithson; if he trades among the Tuscaroras he becomes Ton Qu Smithia; in Poland he is known as Ivan Schmittowski; should he wander among the Welsh mountains they talk of Jihon Schmidt; when he goes to Mexico he is called Jontli F'Smitti; if of classic turn he lingers among Greek ruins he turns to Ion Smiklon, and in Turkey he is utterly disguised as Yoe Seef.

Had His Reasons.

Seeing that his repeated requests to look pleasant only caused his subject to scowl more fiercely, the photographer ceased to look pleasant himself. "If you can't cheer up," he said, "we might as well call this sitting off. You seem an amiable sort of chap. Why can't you look pleasant when I tell you to?" "Because I don't want to," said the man before the camera. "My wife is going to send these pictures to some relatives of hers whom I have never seen, and it is my intention to look like a brigand, so they won't come."

Progress.

"Women are now making great strides," remarked Mrs. Barling-Ban-

"Yes," replied the husband, "only you can't notice it when you see one of 'em in a hobble skirt going after a street car."

STORY OF THE SHIPWRECK AS TOLD BY A WOMAN.

There Was a Joke in It but It Took Her a Long Time to Reach the Point, According to Tale Related by S. E. Kiser.

A story that S. E. Kiser told at the recent banquet given by the Chicago Association of Commerce for the sons of members follows:

"I told you about the difficulty of getting a woman to see the point of a joke. Now, there is another kind of woman. She is the woman who starts to tell you a joke and has difficulty in reaching the point of it.

"One of the loveliest little women that I ever knew had this trouble. She had once been unfortunate enough to be in a shipwreck. The vessel on which she was a passenger had been driven upon some rocks and was rapidly foundering. When the life savers succeeded in shooting a line over the upper works of the boat, thereby rescuing the passengers one at a time by means of the breeches buoy. There was a little incident connected with the woman's trip from the ship to the shore which she told in about this way:

"O, it was the most awful experience I ever had in all my life. I do hope nothing of the kind will ever happen to me again, but do you know when I was about half way between the ship and the shore swinging on that little bit of line and expecting every minute was going to be my last, the funniest thought suddenly popped into my mind just when I was there half way between the ship and the shore, and O! how those waves dashed and roared beneath me as I swung there just as if they were going to tear me into pieces in a minute. My, it was awful! But as I say, I was there half way between the ship and the shore when this funny thing came to my mind of all the places in the world. I can't imagine why it came to me there. You know my husband always treats me like a mere child, he doesn't let me handle the money and wouldn't even allow me to go around and buy a piece of steak, but just as I was there about half way, as I say, this funny thought struck me—and my, it was dark, awful dark!

"Well, as I was there, I say, swinging on this little bit of rope about half way between the ship and the shore, and suddenly this funny thought came to my mind. Now, the captain, I thought, was a coward the minute we got on the rocks, because he gave up, but the mate was one of the bravest men I ever saw in my life. But there I was half way between the ship and the shore and with nothing but that little bit of rope between me and death, expecting every minute to be the last minute of my life, and suddenly this funny thought sprang into my head and I was thinking also that my children would have a stepmother inside of a year if I was drowned, and, O, how it thundered and lightened, and my, how well I was, I never was so wet in my life. I sometimes think it runs in our family, because I had a cousin drowned at sea. Well, as I say, there I was, about half way between the ship and the shore, swinging there, and suddenly the thought popped right into my mind just as suddenly as if some one had spoken to me right out loud—suddenly the thought popped into my head there 'Well, I had the breeches on for once anyhow.'"

Entertaining the Duke.

That irrepressible artist, the late Phil May, "saved the situation" at the Savage club one night in a very happy manner. It was an occasion when the late duke of Teck was present and on account of this royal visit the entertainment committee thought it incumbent upon them to substitute for the usual free-and-easy show a strictly conventional entertainment, which, for all the duke's good nature, plainly bored him to death.

The proceedings went on in a funeral gloom very alien to the surroundings, till, in despair, one of the committee begged Phil May to cheer things up a bit, as only Phil May could.

"Phil" asked for some black chalk and a drawing board. The duke had just become a grandfather by the birth of the present prince of Wales, but few saw Phil May's drift as he drew, in his own inimitable style, an infant in long clothes grabbing at a feeding bottle, till he surmounted the whole with the prince of Wales plumes.

The duke was convulsed with laughter and the evening was saved.

At one time the county of Lancashire, in England, produced practically all the sulphuric acid in the world. The commercial development in Germany and other foreign countries of a special process of manufacture, originally invented by an Englishman, has lost this trade to England. Similarly, the working out by Germans of a method of making artificial indigo has already revolutionized the indigo business and bids fair also to revolutionize the cotton dyeing industry. Four-fifths of all the dyes used in the world are made in Germany.

To treat a Cold in the Head, first rub the nose and forehead with Omega Oil, then pour a teaspoonful of the Oil into a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the arising steam. It penetrates to the inflamed parts of the head and throat and gives quick relief. Trial bottle free. Large bottles 25c and 50c.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO EMPLOYEES AT THE NAVY YARD

Electrical Workers Called.
Ten electricians for work in the machinery division were called by the manufacturing department today.

Break up the Drill.
Fire quarters from box 25 this forenoon broke up the drill of the barracks marine guard. The men were nine a distance from the post at the time, which caused their late arrival on the scene with the ladder truck. The marines are proud of their record in handling this piece of fire-fighting apparatus, and though the delay could not have been avoided, they do not like the idea of being behind any of the yard departments.

Vessel Movements.
The Atlantic reserve will be organized May 10. The fleet will consist of the Tennessee (flagship), Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Wisconsin, Tacoma, Birmingham and Chester. Other vessels will be added from time to time.

The fleet will be based at navy yard, Philadelphia.
The Chester was placed in first reserve at navy yard, Philadelphia, April 22.

Changes Among Officers.
Rear-Admiral T. B. Howard to duty President naval examining and naval retiring boards, Washington.
Rear-Admiral A. M. Knight to commander in chief Atlantic reserve fleet.

Lt.-Comdr C. S. Kempf, home and wait orders.
Lt.-Comdr H. C. Dinger to the Montana as executive and navigator.

Lt. W. S. Anderson to aid on staff commander in chief Atlantic fleet.
Lt. R. L. Berry, home and wait orders.

Lt. F. W. Osborn, Jr., to navy yard, Boston.
Medical Inspector G. H. Barber, detached naval hospital, Olongapo, P. I., home, wait orders.

Machinist J. H. McDonough, detached navy yard, Washington, D. C., granted sick leave six months.
Captain Albert Gleaves, commanding officer of the navy station, Newport, will relieve Rear Admiral Leutze, of the New York yard, June 1.

PORTSMOUTH SHOULD MAKE A STRONG EFFORT

Street has not surprised his friends and neighbors with his vocal ability of late?

If he cannot make a hit with his basso-profundo on the sea shore this summer?

Why the section crews of the railroad do not get a bit of the spare change when the management feeds wires among its employees?

If the legal tangle over the hand tub True W. Priest can be cleared up so the sports at the West End can blow out the packing this summer?

If the improvements in the basement and in the new addition of the First National Bank is not something for the eye to gaze on?

Who is doing the raiding on the dinner pails at the navy yard?

If some boy is not feeding up to the Queens taste of late?

How the man who leaves home with a full dinner pail likes this forced diet?

What Portsmouth will get for train service this summer?

Why the navy department does not grasp the opportunity and develop the wireless station on Seavey's Island?

If that would not be a good plan owing to the absence of amateurs and experimental stations in this vicinity, where there is hardly any interference.

Letting Them Go at Boston.
Nearly 30 men were discharged or furloughed at Boston navy yard on Wednesday owing to lack of work.

Marines Leave Cruiser.
Sixty-eight marines from the U. S. S. North Carolina were sent away today. Twenty-two in charge of Lt. Stone went to Boston navy yard, and forty-six in command of Capt. Taylor to Norfolk.

Figurehead of Kearsage.
A number of boxes of relics and trophies for the National Soldiers' Home have arrived from Washington, being secured through the influence of Gen. Joseph S. Smith of Bangor, member of the board of managers. One of the trophies secured is the figurehead of the old warship Kearsage, which was built at the Portsmouth navy yard.

Back From the South.
Augustus N. Stevenson, foreman shipwright, returned today from a month's visit at Mount Dora Lake, Florida.

Is a Good Plan.
The acting secretary of the navy has directed the yard commandant, Capt. C. C. Rogers, to use his discretion in the discharge and furlough of yard employees. Under this order men can now be furloughed to any length of time or to a period when work is in sight. This eases a discharge and favors the workmen in the matter of conjugal service, which nullifies them in the annual vacation of fifteen days and work when there is any.

Come on You Bluejackets.
Here is a chance for the men on the North Carolina. The Unknown Five, a tug of war team, want to get at them on the rope for $50 or more. The sailors care to make it so. The local team is anxious to get on the boards with the cruiser's men as soon as possible. This challenge is not confined to the ships alone, but any enlisted men at the yard.

MET DEFEAT.
Harry K. Torrey of this city, secretary to Governor Robert Perkins Bass, who retains Newfields as his voting place, met defeat at the caucus held in that town on Tuesday evening. He was a delegate to the state convention on the Roosevelt ticket.

LIQUOR GLASSES MUST BE WASHED IN RUNNING WATER

Saloons are the latest objective point of the state and local boards of health. By an edict issued from the state board the present method of rinsing glasses and bottles must pass on to make room for a more modern and sanitary method. Stagnant water in bar sinks is to be a thing of the past. The new order becomes operative May 1.

Inspector Wallace F. Parington of the state board of health yesterday made an inspection tour of the saloons, accompanied by Chairman Charles E. Johnston and Inspector Edwin C. Epworth of the local board. In the various saloons Mr. Parington said that all sinks containing water must be emptied and that in the future glasses and other receptacles of liquors must be washed or rinsed with running water. Mr. Parington said that at a meeting of the state board in Concord the advisability of compelling the proprietors to wash the glasses with hot water was considered.

According to the state board the water that remains stagnant in the sinks behind the bars collect germs readily. In tests made from samples of the water germs of every common disease were found.

To the Citizens of Portsmouth and Vicinity:

On Monday, April 29th, the New Hampshire National Bank and the Portsmouth Trust and Guarantee Company will occupy the new building erected on the site of the Old City Hall.

I would like very much to increase the number of our depositors, when we take possession of our new banking rooms, and if you are not already a depositor in one or both of these institutions, I want to ask you to let us enter your name on our books, and thereby show your appreciation of our enterprise in erecting this beautiful building.

It is not my intention for you to disturb any relations you may now have with any other banking institution, but it may be that you, or some of your friends, may wish to open a new account. If so, it will afford me much pleasure to add your name and the names of your friends to our list of depositors, even if the accounts are small ones. And if you should have the opportunity to direct any business to us, I assure you that I shall appreciate the favor, and will see that the business is given the best possible attention.

We have one of the finest banking buildings in New England. It is built as an absolutely fire-proof structure with modern fire and burglar proof vaults of the most approved construction, affording complete protection against loss. We shall have a large number of safe-deposit boxes to rent, in size and price suited to the wants of everybody, and ample accommodations for all our customers and friends.

I take pleasure in extending to you a cordial invitation to call and inspect our new building on Friday, April 26th, and Saturday, April 27th, from two until nine o'clock.

Yours very truly,

WM. C. WALTON.
